

To Our Customers:

On June 28, 2019, Madison Gas and Electric (MGE) filed its application for approval of its 2020 Fuel Cost Plan with the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSCW).

In its application, MGE's 2020 forecasted fuel costs for electric generation are estimated to be approximately $96,000 lower than fuel costs authorized by the PSCW for MGE's 2019 fuel cost plan. Projected market prices for fuel are estimated to be lower for 2020 compared to 2019. Lower market prices decrease the cost for electric generation and purchased power.

In all fuel plan cases before the PSCW, the figures identified in the application are updated based on an audit performed by PSCW staff and based on more up-to-date financial figures that are made available closer to the PSCW decision. As a result, the exact adjustment to rates based on MGE's 2020 fuel cost plan is not definitively known at this time. Please monitor the docket per the contact information below.

Electric: Based on the figures identified in MGE's application, MGE's 2020 forecasted fuel costs would decrease overall electric rates by 0.024% in 2020. If approved, customers would see a $0.00003 per kilowatt-hour (kWh) credit on 2020 usage.

Natural gas: MGE's request does not impact natural gas rates.
